DR. PEARSON IS BACK

Has Been Attending International Veterinary Congress.

TUBERCULOSIS DISCUSSION.

Formed One of the Most Important Subjects Brought up at Great Meetings—Bovine Tuberculosis Transmissible to Human Beings.

Doctor Leonard Pearson, State Veterinarian, Dean of the Faculty of Veterinary Medicine of the University of Pennsylvania, and a member of the Advisory Board of the State Department of Health, has just returned from Europe, where he went to attend the International Veterinary Congress at Budapest and the International Tuberculosis Congress at Paris.

In an interview recently Dr. Pearson said: "The Eighth International Veterinary Congress held at Budapest was a great success. It had 1,400 members from thirty countries. The membership was made up very largely of official delegates from universities, veterinary schools, municipalities and States. The Congress was welcomed and entertained by the Archduke Joseph and the Hungarian Government, and the meetings were held in the House of Parliament. Seven days were devoted to the hering of papers and discussions on the causes, prevention and cure of diseases of animals and on the promotion of animal husbandry. My chief interest was in the discussion on the vaccination of cattle against tuberculosis, in connection with which I reported on the work in this line that has been conducted by the Pennsylvania Livestock Sanitary Board. Studies of this subject have been carried on by several investigators of Europe. The consensus of the opinion was to the effect that this discovery is destined to be of great practical value. More extensive studies, and I think I may safely say, more productive studies, because of broader scope, have been made in this subject here in Pennsylvania than elsewhere, and it was most gratifying to find that the researches recently made at the German Institute for the study of infectious diseases, and at the Vetinary College in Berlin, which were reported at Budapast by Prof. Robert Koch and by Prof. Shutz have confirmed the higher efficiency of the method that we have developed as compared with that of Von Behring.

The importance of the subjects discussed at this meeting is indicated by the fact that infectious and preventable diseases of animals cause in the United States losses aggregating from $15,000,000 to $200,000,000 each year, and upon veterinary protection from disease depends the prosperity and intergrity of the vast animal industry represents an investment of $8,600,000,000 in this country and which produces an annual revenue of almost $2,000,000,000. The enormous responsibility resting on them was thoroughly appreciated by the members of the Congress and the discussions were carried on with a dignity, seriousness and scientific spirit that were quite in harmony with this responsility.

Tuberculosis Congress.

At the Tuberculosis Congress in Paris one of the questions that received much attention was the relationship of bovine to human tuberculosis. The position that has been held by the scientific students of this question in this country was sustained, and it is not only posible that tuberculosis may pass from cattle to man, but that proof of such passage is fully established. Of course no one holds that this is the chief or even one of the most important sources of human infection, but it has, nevertheless, been shown to have existed in fourteen per cent. of different series of cases studied by German and English Commissions respectively. So the danger is one that must be guarded against.

Something of a most popular sensation was made in Paris by Prof. Von Behring, who announced that he had discovered a cure for consumption. But as he did not follow the usual custof of scientists and inform his colleagues as to the nature of his discovery and the facts upon which his claims are based, the general view was that one should reserve opinion until he presents evidence to support his claim. The world has been disappointed so often in such matters that one is not justified in accepting such statements without positive proof. While one is naturally predisposed to believe the claim on account of Von Behring's position and great achievements we must not forget that Koch, a man greater than Von Behring, sadly disappointed the world, a few years ago, by the premature announcement of a cure for tuberculosis that did not give the results that were expected. And Von Behring has made claims and statements on other occasions that are not now accepted and are believed by men competent to judge to be unsound. Moreover, the commercial instinct is more highly developed in Von Behring than in any other contemporary scientist. So, for the present, I shall neither reject nor accept, his statement.

NEW ALBANY SUFFERED BAD FIRE FRIDAY.

Store Occupied by J. K. Silvara & Co. With Stock a Wreck.

New Albany suffered a disastrous fire Friday morning when the store of F. P. Corcoran, occupied by J. K. Silvara & Co., general merchants, was badly damaged and the stock is practically a total loss. The fire was discovered at about 4 o'clock and the fire company there soon had three streams on the burning building. The blaze was supposed to have been extinguished at one time but later it broke out again, as the fire had crept along between the ceiling and outside. For an hour and half the firemen worked before they had this put out.

The goods not destroyed by fire were soaked with water and blackened with smoke. The fire was confined to this one store and no other buildings were damaged. The stock is valued at about $11,000 to $12,000 and there is an insurance on it of $11,000. The store building is also insured. Orrin Ackla fell through the floor while engaged in his duties as one of the firemen but was not badly hurt. The origin of the fire is unknown.

MET AT SAYRE.

Eleventh Annual Convention of Sunday School Association.

The eleventh annual convention of the Bradford County Sabbath School association was held in the Methodist church in Sayre Tuesday and Wednesday of last week its first session commencing Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, opening by a devotional service. Rev. C. A. Brady of Canton, Pa., and Rev. E. P. Morse of Troy, Pa., delivered addresses and there were many discussions on Sabath School work. In the evening there was praise and devotional service at 7:30 o'clock, and an address by Rev. J. W. Martin, president of the association. Miss Ermna C. Lincoln of Philadelphia, a State Sabbath school worker delivered an address on "Sunday School Possibilities." Wednesday morning's session opened with a devotional service led by Rev. W. H. Sawtelle of Athens. W. G. Lines of Philadelphia, a state worker, delivered an address on "Home Department Work of Sabbath Schools." Then followed a business meeting and a general discussion of Sabbath School work, led by Rev. J. W. Martyn and the state workers. There were two interesting addresses delivered Wednesday evening.

Sabbath Association Officers.

At the session Wednesday the following officers were elected: Rev. J. W. Martyn of Canton, president; Rev. M. B. Wood of Sayre, first vice president; Rev. H. Jones of Neath, second vice president; D. F. Pomeroy of Troy, coresponding secretary; Miss Helen Balliett of Sayre, recording secreary; H. J. Hallock of Wyalusing, treasurer; Mary Boyle, superintendent of home department; Rev. C. A. Bradley of Canton, superintendent of normal work and Mrs. W. Lilley of Canton, superintendent of primary work.

ARRESTS MADE.

Development in the Mud Pond Murder Case.

Charged with the murder of John Potter at Mud Pond on August 18, last, Thomas Georgi and Harold Kensey, two Wilkesbarre East End young men were arrested by county detective Jones Monday and committed to jail without bail.

As it was thought that the death of Potter would always remain a mystery and that the local men had been clearly vindicated, the move of Monday morning caused much surprise and conjecture.

The friends of the accused claim it is simply a step to have the two freed in the eyes of the law from all suspicion and eliminate the danger of arrests in the future. The grand jury is now sitting and true bills may be found against the men and then they will be tried next week in court. The possibility of conviction, their friends claim, is small and when acquitted they need never fear trouble again.

Others are of the opinion that the county detective has been working on the post-mortem finding of Dr. Brooks, which has never been officially given out, and which may lead to foul play.

Kensey and Georgi went to Mud Pond to fish and engaged Potter to row them across the water. Potter was working in a lumber camp owned by Col. Ricketts of Wilkesbarre.

Nothing was heard of the three men until the following day when the lifeless remains of Potter were found floating in the water.

Kensey and Georgi turned up in Wilkesbarre and refused to discuss the affair outside the statement that they are innocent of any wrongdoing.

Brought to Jail Here.

William Vandermark, who is wanted in this county for the alleged burglary of the house of R. H. Lamberson at Powell, was brought to the county jail here Monday by Constable Guy C. Hollon. Vandermark was held at Canandaigua awaiting requisition papers and has just gotten out of trouble there.

WAS HOSPITAL DAY.

Class of Nurses Graduated From the Sayre Institution.

DR. OTT'S ANNUAL REPORT.

Number of Appendicitis Cases Is Very Large and Appears to Be Constantly Increasing—Doctors Enjoyed a Smoker.

Hospital Day was appropriately observed at the Presbyterian church at Sayre on Tuesday night of last week, at which time a graduating class of nurses, consisting of Mises Florence Wells, Mary Morrison, Ethel Bucknell, Jennie MacKenzie and Anna P. Avery received their diplomas, having completed the required course at Sayre's well and favorably known institution.

The exercises were well atended and nearly every seat in the church was filled. McGuffie's orchestra of Waverly furnished the music and the opening selection was followed with prayer by Rev. F. T. Cady. Dr. C. H. Ott, surgeon in chief, read the surgical statistics for the past year, and was followed by M. H. Sawtelle, treasurer of the board of trustees, who gave the financial report.

Dr. Charles P. Noble, of Philadelphia, surgeon in chief of the Kensington hospital for women, delivered the address to the graduating class. It was highly interesting and contained much valuable information as well as good advice.

Henry Streeter, Esq., of Towanda, president of the hospital board of trustees, presented the diplomas. His address was most appropriate and listened to with great attention.

Many Appendicitis Cases.

Dr. C. H. Ott, physician and surgeon in chief of the hospital gave some of the hospital statistics for the fiscal year ending June 1 last. During the year there were 592 cases treated in the wards of the hospital and of these 33 males and 12 females died. During the year operations were performed on 484 patients and 108 received medical treatment. The rate of mortality in the medical cases was seven and six tenth per cent. and the mortality rate in the operations cases was five per cent. Of the operations, 109 were for appendicitis, an increase of nearly 100 per cent. over the preceding year. Dr. Ott said he did not know whether appendicitis, for some unknown reason is on the increase or whether the physicians are becoming more skillful in the diagnosis of the disease, but the fact remains, nevertheless that during the last few years there has been a great increase in the number of cases treated at the hospital.

Miss Emily McCreight, directress of the training class, presented the class with medals and after a selection by the orchestra the exercises were concluded.

One of the pleasing features in connection with hospital day was the smoker given by Dr. C. H. Ott at his home immediately after the conclusion of the exercises at the church. Doctors to the number of fifty or more were present from Waverly, Sayre, Athens, Towanda, Wyalusing, Laceyville, Dushore, Rome and other places and a most delightful time was enjoyed by all present. There were no set speeches but the conversation of the evening was of a highly interesting nature and Dr. Ott was voted a royal host. During the evening a spread was served by Doctors Fish, Johnson, Spencer, Betowski, Andrews and Evans. The first four named physicians were formerly connected with the hospital staff of surgeons and the two latter are at the present time the senior and junior internes.

On the whole hospital day was most appropriately observed and will long be remembered by those who participated in the event.

Report a Fake.

A correspondent of The Scranton Times, writing from Honesdale, says of the million dollar mythical shoe factory, that "the boom has been dissipated, for investigation develops there are no such concerns as the "Union Mutual Shoe Company," "George W. Reynolds," or any one else of the names suggested in existence in Chicago; neither are they listed or rated in the American Leather, Boot and Shoe Rate Book."

Both Legs Severed.

While playing around the cars in the Lehigh Valley yards at Sayre under the trolley bridge Thursday afternoon, Clay Adamy, son of E. D. Adamy, the well known contractor, met with a sad accident by falling under the wheels of a car and had both his legs severed. The injured boy was taken to the Robert Packer hospital for treatment.

Deserters, Beware!

GENERAL HILL REMAINS REMOVED TO MAINE TOMB.

Largely Attended Funeral Services Held at Home Here.

Funeral services for General Jonathan A. Hill were held last week Wednesday at 3 o'clock at the family home on Main street and were largely attended. Rev. O. A. Houghton, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church in this place of which General Hill was a regular attendant, read the hymn "The Lord is my shepherd, no want shall I know," following with reading of the ninetieth Psalm and the fifteenth chapter of Corinthians. Mr. Houghton gave a short funeral sermon as follows:

We gather today about the casket of our venerable friend with emotions of mingled sorrow and gratitude; sorrow that we shall see him no more on earth, gratitude for what he was to his neighbors, and friends and to his country. The facts of his eventful life need not now be rehearsed. They are on record in the annals of a great nation. The history of this government cannot be accurately written nor rewritten and the name and deeds of Gen. Jonathan A. Hill left out. At great cost to himself he gave the best five years of his life to the services of his country, in, and subsequent to, the great Civil war. In at least twenty battles he proved his indomitable courage and persistency. He commanded the admiration of his countrymen, and compelled recognition of his merit as a brave and skillful leader. Step by step in faithful service he won promotion to the rank of a general. In all those years of heroic service he accepted no furlough excepting the three months compelled by the shattering and amputation of his good right arm, returning to the field and his command before his wound had entirely healed. His service was that of an honest, courageous patriot.

"Enfold him in the stripes and stars, He will not dim their brightest fold." Like all truly brave men he was tender hearted and considerate of all under him. He was one with his men and they loved him.

Since the war in carrying on extensive business operations in which many men were employed he was never inconsiderate of their rights or welfare, nor wanting in tender solicitude for their families, and kind attention to their necessities. He was a friend and helper of the poor. Neither his wealth nor his fame lifted him above his fellow men in his demeanor toward them. He was approachable, genial, companionable. He loved his friends and prized their friendship. He loved the church and was a most constant and regular attendant upon all its public services. On the last Sabbath of his earthly life he attended the church service morning and evening. He was an attentive and appreciated hearer.

He loved the Sunday school and believed in the supreme importance of its work. All its exercises were of interest to him and it was not an uncommon thing to see tears upon his face in response to the recitation or song of one of the children. He was a manly man and the best type of a true citizen. He will ever be held in loving remembrance by us all while our heartfelt sympathies go out to the faithful wife and mother who has shared the toils and sufferings of these eventful years, and to the sons and daughters to whom the memory of their patriot father will ever be their most precious legacy.

Prayer was offered by Rev. John S. Stewart, pastor of the First Presbyterian church and then Dr. Houghton read Whittier's hymn, "When on my life, the night is falling." The service closed with the benediction delivered by Rev. Edwin A. Gernant, rector of Christ church.

The remains, enclosed in a beautiful metal casket, were borne to a special Lehigh Valley combination car which was placed at the foot of Park street. Accompanying the body were General Hill's immediate relatives and the pall bearers, Hon. W. T. Davies, George W. Kipp, E. F. Kizer, Ed. Carter, Jr., William Little, Esq., and John C. Ingham, Esq. This car will take the funeral party as far as Syracuse. From there the journey is to be made to Auburn, Me., where the remains of the noted man will be placed in the handsome mausoleum erected some time ago for the Hill family.

Wickham—Wells.

A quiet wedding was celebrated at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. W. Bishop of Sayre last Wednesday when Miss Nan Wells of Meshoppen was married to Alfred Wickham of Tioga. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. T. Cady. The bride has many friends in Towanda who will extend congratulations. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs Robert H. Laning of Towanda, and Colonel and Mrs. J. H. Horton of Buffalo.

A Hanging All Right.

There was a report on the street Tuesday that an unknown man had been found dead on upper Bridge street and that he had hanged himself. When the matter was looked into it was found to be a Hallowe'en jooke a day ahead of time as it was a dummy which some boys had strung up over the limb of a tree.

He also showed the knife that cut the goad used on the first ox team in that section Dr. Moody spoke most entertainingly of Rome and its pioneers. His grandfather, Nathaniel P. Moody, was the first settler in the township. He was a Revolutionary soldier and came to this section in 1795, first settling at Sheshequin and later at Rome. Dr. Moody gave a number of interesting anecdotes of the old times in Rome and of the vicissitudes that the pioneers met with in their conquest of the wilderness.

Rev. F. E. Bessey spoke briefly of the beauty of Rome and paid a tribute to its excellent people. He referred to the noted P. P. Bliss, whose remains lie buried in the cemetery at Rome. Dr. R. G. Rice of Towanda spoke briefly of the Woodburn family with which he is connected. Volney H. Peet of Salt Lake City congratulated the society on the good work it is doing and commended Secretary Heverly for writing local history.

Mr. Heverly told of the battle the hunter Fensler had with the wolves at a place since called "Fensler's Fort." Hon. C. S. Russell stated that his wife knew the spot where Fensler was buried and that he had placed an iron bar so that the grave might be identified. Mr. Heverly and Dr. Moody spoke of the famous Reuben Bumps of Bumpville whose noted yarns about animals and hunting were known the country 'round and filled the souls of boys with such awe that they lay awake at night in mortal fear. Mrs. Dell Browning spoke of an ancient clock still keeping good time in her home and which was earned many years ago by one of her ancestors.

Presidens Says Construction Will Begin When It Is Secured.

President F. A. Sawyer of the Pittsburg, Binghamton & Eastern railroad, was in town on Saturday and stated to a representative of this paper that the company will proceed to the construction of the road as soon as it can obtain the complete right of way from Towanda to Canton. Certain parties living near Franklindale have as yet refused to give the railroad people the necessary permission to cross their property and the railroad does not want to have to resort to condemnation proceedings unless compelled to.

As soon as the right of way is secured the company states that it expects to put John R. Lee & Co., of New York, the contracting firm, on the construction at once. The contract calls for the completion of the road within 18 months. The construction of the road will be pushed from Binghamton south, from Canton north and from Towanda in both directions, meeting the forces from Binghamton and Canton half way.

President Sawyer has rented a furnished house at Binghamton for the winter and Mrs. Sawyer is now in that city. Miss Frances Sawyer, their daughter, is attending school at the Lady Jane Grey institition in Binghamton, Mr. Sawyer will divide his time between New York, Binghamton, Towanda and Canton visiting all the offices each week. Tough as is the elk, a pint of oats fed to it will kill it.

The Lord has been very good to even the lazy farmer this year, for the corn, though not planted until the middle of June, has all ripened up in fine shape.

The hog is naturally a very clean animal, considering that he belongs to the scavenger tribe, when he is given half a chance. Filthy hog yards are often primary causes of sick and dead hogs.

The great trouble with that much boomed wheat country of the Canadian northwest is that there is only work for the farmer about three months in the year, and the rest of the time he has to loaf.

It seems almost impossible to preserve any of our game animals and birds or our best food and game fish by any sort of legislation. It seems to be born in the average American that all wild life belongs to him if he can get at it, no matter what the law may be.

It never pays to foster any sort of a manufacturing industry which is under the control of a trust, for just as soon as it is well started the trust may buy it up and let it remain idle. This thing has been done in almost countless instances with oatmeal mills, paper mills and many other enterprises.

A good deal of fuss is made over the turkey as a centerpiece for the Thanksgiving dinner when, if people did but know it, a six-weeks-old sucking pig stuffed and baked, with a small cob in his mouth, can in point of palatability and flavor eclipse any old gobbler ever cooked. Try the pig and see—and do not forget to put the cob in his mouth.

A case came to our notice lately where the profit connected with growing hogs was well illustrated. Two shotes were bought in May at $5 each. They were fed until the 1st of September, the food all bought save the grass. When sold they brought $30, and, deducting the cost of the food, they made the owner a clean profit of 95 per cent on his investment.

A friend of ours told us recently that he had farmed 120 acres of pretty good land as a grain farm for thirteen years and that at the end of that time he was no better off than when he commenced, and that a year ago he put twenty-five cows on his farm and has made more clean money than he thought possible to get out of the farm. Many others have done this same thing and they all give the same sort of testimony.

It is quite an element of success for a farmer to adopt some fixed general plan for the conduct of his farm and then stick to it. It may be the dairy or beef making, the keeping of sheep or the raising of horses. The work of the farm should be planned to converge around this principal business, whatever it may be, and it should not be abandoned just because it does not pay for a time. It is the sticking to it that wins out every time.

We came across a man a few days ago who has a fine bunch of spring pigs, just five months old, which will average over 200 pounds each. Asking him how he managed to secure such a rather remarkable weight for that age, he said that he milked twenty-five cows and the pigs had had all the separated sweet skim milk they would eat from the time they were weaned. For want of just this ration many a man has to keep his pigs until they are eight months old before he can make them touch the 200 pound mark.

It is worth just as much sometimes to note one's failures as successes. Now, here, in accordance with suggestions given in these notes with regard to securing a field of alfalfa, we prepared two acres of land in nice shape and sowed the seed about the 10th of August. The seed germinated nicely and had just got well into the second leaf when the pesky grasshoppers found out it was a well balanced ration for them as well as for the domestic animals on the farm, and in three days had eaten every stalk of the alfalfa close to the ground, thus completely ruining the field. This is discouraging, but we will try it again.

Three wet seasons—that is, three years in succession—bringing to the northwest and west a large volume of rainfall during the crop season, to the detriment of the crops in the grain growing sections of that territory, have very naturally resulted in giving the so called semiarid sections west of it a sufficient rainfall to insure exceptionally fine crops, with the result that there has been a great boom in these lands in the dry sections for farm purposes, the condition of the grasses and crops there grown being such as to delude men into buying such lands at good prices. There is going to be trouble, and lots of it, out there when the seasons once again swing back to normal conditions. For general farming keep east of the one hundredth degree, west longitude. Observance of this rule will save many a man failure and disappointment.

SOMETHING TO LEARN.

American farmers would be astonished at the results if they should apply the same careful, intensive and sensible methods to the cultivation of the soil and the care of their stock which obtain in some of the old world countries—Denmark, Holland, the island of Jersey and France—where a little area of land is so treated that it produces twice and thrice as much per acre as is produced in this country. When our land was cheap—$25 to $50 per acre—it is perhaps true that any sort of intensive agriculture did not pay, for this cheap land was new and very fertile and able to stand a good deal of abuse which has been applied to it without stint. Now, however, that these same lands run in value from $75 to $150 per acre there is much in these advanced methods of European farming well worth considering. We have not yet learned how to properly feed the land—that is, to so rotate and fertilize it that it will do its best or anywhere near it. Good farming will always keep up and increase the fertility of the soil. This but few do, and half of the land will not now produce more than one-half as good crops as it would fifty years ago. Continuous cropping with grain has removed the humus and depleted the available supply of nitrogen and potash. We know of several instances where foreigners from the countries mentioned have become possessed of a small tract of land here and by carrying out their old country methods are obtaining the most astonishing results, making more money from twenty acres than their American neighbors are from eighty acres and not working any harder either. We have much to learn from these people.

The furrows which a mortgage places on the farm are quite often to be found as much on the face of the farmer's wife as out in the plowed field.

Young man, if you are in debt and are eating up today what you expect to earn and pay for next month try an oatmeal diet for thirty days and get square with the world and hereafter pay as you go. The oatmeal will not hurt you—in fact, will be a good thing for you. A poor man has no business to run his face for food to eat unless he is a tramp pure and simple.

Five years ago we top grafted twenty-five Duchess trees one year old with a dozen varieties of apples which are not rated as hardy where we live. The experiment to date is a success, the trees being very thrifty and just beginning to bear. The weak point of a tender apple tree lies in its root system and trunk, and we have reasoned that if these were made entirely hardy the tenderer varieties might be raised.

Judgments for a matter of $1,500 against the owner and driver are proving the most effective brake yet invented for the reasonable management of the automobile. It should be the prime object of the owners of these machines to make friends with the traveling public who from the nature of things regard the road devils with well grounded hatred, and it is the few fools with machines who make all the trouble.

The corn crop of the west is big enough so that no eight hour day will do for the gathering of it. Help is scarce, the ears many and big, much of the crop badly down from the action of the storms, and it is all important to secure the crop before the snows fall. It looks as if the girls will have to take a hand in this good work, which will mean for them three feathers in their winter hat and a well developed muscle which will come in handy later on when they have to teach school or spank their own kids.

The average quarter section farm should have not less than twenty acres seeded to clover each year. This will keep forty acres of the farm in clover all the time and permit the turning over each year of twenty acres of clover sod for the corn crop, this course of treatment absolutely assuring very large and profitable crops of corn. Then there should be cows enough to take care of the clover as pasture and eat up the hay which would be produced. A farm so handled would not fail to make money for the owner, and a lot of it too.

It is too bad that most men do not realize what a pest the Canada thistle and quack grass are on the farm until these things have got a good start and it becomes almost impossible to eradicate them. We know of an eighty acre farm in Iowa which is now covered with the thistle, which the neighbors have seen develop from just a small patch, they regarding it with as much indifference as though it was a patch of bindweed or purslane, when they should have been as much wrought up over this little patch of thistles as they would have been over a case of smallpox in their community. A farmer leads a very independent life, it is true, but his independence should be curtailed when he makes a business of raising weed seed to infect his neighbors' farms.

There is a great deal connected with the proper feeding and dressing of poultry for market. We were in a commission house about Thanksgiving last year where lots of turkeys were arriving for the holiday trade. Most of these birds had been taken right from a grasshopper diet in the fields and were lean, and many of them were very poorly dressed. The point which we wish to make is that these lean and ill dressed fowls were almost unsalable and when selling at all did not bring one-half the price the fat and well dressed birds did. Turkeys intended for the Thanksgiving trade should be rounded up at least two weeks before the killing and dressing, kept in a darkened place and be stuffed with all the corn or cornmeal they will eat; should be picked dry and be cleanly dressed. This applies to the feeding and marketing of all kinds of poultry.

GRASS AS A MEAT MAKER.

All through the corn belt men have placed too much dependence upon corn, as a meat maker and not enough on grass and other crops. Meat made from grass—and by grass we mean clover, alfalfa and blue grass—is always cheaply produced, while meat made from corn has often to be sold for less than it cost. But few men understand the real value of a good pasture as a meat producer, and altogether too little attention is paid to keeping pasture lands up to a high state of productiveness, the most common sin being in connection with overstocking them and never giving the grass any kind of a show to grow. We know of men who would hardly be able to sleep nights if they had a pasture which carried a heavy and luxuriant growth of grass and would not rest until they had got enough stock into it to "keep it down," as they express it. Grass must have some sort of a chance to grow above ground if it is to have a good, strong and vigorous root system. Where grass is weakened by overpasturing the weeds are quick to take advantage of the fact and soon swarm all over the field to still further help kill out the grass. A blue grass pasture unfed from July 1 till winter will furnish one of the best and very cheapest winter rations for the colts and for cattle and sheep as well provided the snow does not get too deep.

BIRD MIGRATION.

There is no more interesting sight to be seen in the fall of the year than the vast flocks of blackbirds getting ready for their southern migration. Grouped in families as they were bred in the swamps, they at first live an independent sort of a life. Later, as the fall days come on, they commence to gather in small flocks, which constantly increase in size as the days go by until just before they migrate they may be seen in flocks containing thousands, wheeling with a military precision in their flight or massing and swarming in the tops of the cottonwood trees, all chattering like a lot of women at a tea party, evidently discussing in their bird language the time for their departure and the route to be taken, and then the day comes for them to go, a day just before the coming of the snow, the frost and the cold north wind, and circling round a few times to take a last look at the old home they head for the south and in undulating flight seek the marshes, the rice and cornfields of a warmer latitude. A few stray birds, perchance the very young and inexperienced ones or those that suffer from some infirmity, linger all winter through the cold and the storms, seeking the shelter of an evergreen grove in the vicinity of some farmer's cornerib.

NEW TYPES.

We are asked by what process the new varieties of strawberries and potatoes are originated. New varieties of strawberries are not originated from the runners, but from the seeds of the berry. New kinds of potatoes come from the seeds in the seed balls and not from the tubers. The new sorts are propagated by the runners and tubers of the plants thus originated. The same rule as to new varieties holds good with all our fruits which carry seeds—apples, pears, peaches, plums. With our cereal grains—tomatoes, cucumbers, melons and squashes—with most flowers, the origination of a new variety comes as a sport or freak, the result of nature's mysterious methods of cross fertilization, such sport being selected for propagation by seeds or cuttings from it. Many new things are developed by mechanical cross fertilization where varieties are purposely crossed by the agency of man, and no field of research is more fascinating or is attracting more attention at the present time, Luther Burbank of California being the high priest in this line of wonderful work.

Bathing the Eyes.

Bathing the eyes with equal parts of witch hazel and water is very restful to them, or bathe them with warm water in which are dissolved a pinch of powdered borax and two or three drops of spirits of camphor. A soft linen cloth, used for no other purpose, is better than a sponge for bathing the eyes. The eyes should be washed every night to remove any dust that might have gathered on the lids during the day.

He Bit.

He (at the window)—It's very cheerful within, but awfully disagreeable without. She (coyly)—Without what? He (inspired)—Why, without you, darling.

And a few weeks later a furniture installment house was called upon to open a new account.

The Danger.

"Do you think, doctor, that indolence necessarily tends to obesity?"

"Um—not necessarily, perhaps, but when people do nothing but take up room they are quite likely to find it difficult—er—not to overdo, don't you know?"

A Better Way.

Cynic (savagely)—They say the fashionable mother of today recognizes her baby only by looking at the nurse! Fashionable Mother (unmoved)—How extraordinarily clever when one changes nurses so often! I always tell ours by the baby carriage.

Cause For Pity.

We hear much about broken hearts in this world, but the lists of broken brained geniuses is greater. Almost every day we have to pity the man who carries his mind in a sling.—Toledo Blade.

The Hand That Rules.

She—It is comforting to me to know that woman's hand rules the world. He—Yes, but you must not forget that man's hand holds it much of the time.

Pointless.

Scribbles—You sit on every joke I submit to you. Editor—Well, if they had any point to them I wouldn't.

Everything great is not always good, but all good things are great.—Demosthenes.

Happenings All Over the State in Condensed Form.

A LEHIGH BRAKEMAN KILLED.

Thomas J. Johnson of McAdoo Met Death in Rear End Collision—Pike County Factory Destroyed by Fire. Much Diphtheria at Norristown.

Excessive cigarette smoking caused the death of Miss Elizabeth Weidner, aged 24, of Easton. She had had a peculiar career. Her first husband, Frank Fisher, sold her for fifty cents to Samuel Weidner, who has since left her. Fisher was drowned in the Delaware River a few years ago while trying to escape arrest.

Thomas J. Johnson, of McAdoo, a brakeman of the Lehigh Valley railroad, was killed in a rear end collision at Weatherly and T. B. Rader, a signalman, was injured. A caboose and a freight car were smashed. By the toppling over of a derailed engine at Hazle Brook, Edward Fowler, the engineer, was probably fatally injured.

The return of John Clark, of Shamokin, from Spain without a promised fortune caused the postal authorities to begin an investigation in the case Tuesday. That city is being flooded with copies of the famous "Spanish Banker" swindling letters, which for a decade have been sent out from Madrid, telling of thousands of dollars that are tied up in various banks, and which are to be secured for some kindly disposed person in return for a trifling loan.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad Co. has decided to equip its new coaches, recently added to the Black Diamond service, with electric lights.

Samuel C. Wilkinson of Pittsburg pleaded guilty to embracery in connection with the second trial of police captain James Wilson of Allegheny on a charge of accepting money from proprietors of illegal houses. It was alleged that during the trial Wilkinson approached a juror. Wilkinson was remanded to jail for sentence next Saturday.

William C. Baden, an insurance agent, was found dead in bed in the American House at Royersford Wednesday. He had evidently committed suicide by turning on the gas, as the jet was wide open. Baden came there from Pottstown and registered at the hotel, telling the clerk to call him at 6:30 o'clock. It is said he lost money in speculation.

Owing to the cases of diphtheria at Norristown the board of health has ordered all the public school buildings fumigated to prevent the spread of the disease.

Caught tapping a till in a saloon that had been robbed twice within the past two weeks, ten-year-old Michael Roman of Mahanoy City confessed to having participated in a score of similar robberies.

Harry Auken, employed at the Coxton shops of the Lehigh Valley railroad, was instantly killed while running an engine into the round house at Coxton. He looked out of the cab, window, and his head was caught between the cab and the round house door and crushed.

Colonel John A. Glenn, of the state auditor general's office at Harrisburg, died at the Holly Inn, at Mounty Holly, at 9:15 o'clock Oct. 30. Mr. Glenn was one of the leading authorities on corporation law in the state. The body will be taken at once to his home in Philadelphia.

While playing with several children in front of her home at Bethlehem, eleven-years-old Elsie Renner, daughter of Contractor Wilson Renner, dropped dead. The physicians said death was due to overexertion.

After eating a hearty meal, Thomas Dobbins of Pottsville, aged 60 years, arose from the table and while walking up and down in an adjoining room suddenly dropped dead from paralysis of the heart. His wife died in the same manner a short time ago.

The body of Harry S. Zimmerman, aged 18, of Mines, near Altoona, was found in a field near his home Thursday. Zimmerman had gone hunting Tuesday and failed to return that evening. He had died from wounds in the head, caused by the accidental discharge of his gun.

Dr. Judson Welsh, head of the State Normal school at Bloomsburg, said at Wilkesbarre Friday that he had notified the State Superintendent of Public Instruction of alleged cases of "graft" in choosing school teachers in Luzerne county. He declared that there is plenty of evidence of bribery in the townships.

The main office of the American Steel Foundries Company has been transferred from New York to Chester, to be under the direction of S. A. Watson.

When City Detective Ibach arrested William Johnson, colored, at Harrisburg Saturday night, charging him with the murder of George Bryant, colored, Johnson laughed and thought it was a joke. Johnson admits he hit Bryant on the head with a brick, on Oct. 14. Johnson then left town and, two days later, Bryant died.

John Hinton, a colored prisoner confined in the jail at Carlisle, hanged himself Sunday morning in his cell.

An order for fifty new engines has been placed with the American Locomotive company by the Erie railroad company. The price is $500,000. Twenty-five of the engines will be of the consolidated type, while the others will be of the Pacific type. The work is now being turned out.

Dr. Samuel Y. Thompson, a noted physician and jurist, died suddenly at his home in Danville Sunday night, while prescribing for a patient. Dr. Thompson was 62 years of age. He was prominently identified in Montour county politics.

Mrs. Alvin Hontz was seriously wounded at her home in Slocum township, Luzerne county, on Saturday by the accidental discharge of a gun. A boarder at her home was handling it, when in some way the trigger was touched and the charge struck her in the leg.

The engine of a big touring car owned by George Markle, of Hazleton, exploded while the machine was being operated near Audenreid. Mr. Markle escaped without injury, but his chauffeur, James Moore, was painfully burned on the hands and face.

REJOICING IN ST. PETERSBURG

Russian Capital Goes Mad Over Czar's Grant of Liberty.

DEMONSTRATIONS UNCHECKED

Thousands Parade Nevsky Prospect, Waving Red Flags.

STRIKERS GO BACK TO WORK

Police Keep In Background Under Orders to Let the People Vent Their Feelings—Churches Filled With Men and Women Thanking St. Nicholas, the Miracle Worker, For the Blessings of Freedom—Text of the Imperial Manifesto.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 31.—The Russian capital blossomed out with flags and bunting in celebration of the emperor's grant of civil liberty. All the troops were withdrawn from the streets. The nervousness of the people suddenly disappeared. Workmen by the thousands flocked back to the shops and factories without awaiting the permission of the strike committee.

The text of the imperial manifesto is as follows:

We, Nicholas II., by the grace of God emperor and autocrat of all the Russias, grand duke of Finland, etc., declare to all our faithful subjects that the troubles and agitation in our capitals and in numerous other places fill our heart with excessive pain and sorrow.

The happiness of the Russian sovereign is indissolubly bound up with the happiness of our people, and the sorrow of our people is the sorrow of the sovereign.

From the present disorders may arise great national disruption. They menace the integrity and unity of our empire.

The supreme duty imposed upon us by our sovereign office requires us to efface ourself and to use all the force and reason at our command to hasten in securing the unity and co-ordination of the power of the central government and to assure the success of measures for pacification in all circles of public life, which are essential to the well being of our people.

The Czar's Concessions.

We therefore direct our government to carry out our inflexible will in the following manner:

First.—To extend to the population the immutable foundations of civic liberty, based on the real inviolability of person, freedom of conscience, speech, union and association.

Second.—Without suspending the already ordered elections to the state douma, to invite to participation in the douma, so far as the limited time before the convocation of the douma will permit, those classes of the population now completely deprived of electoral rights, leaving the ultimate development of the principle of the electoral right in general to the newly established legislative order of things.

Third.—To establish as an unchangeable rule that no law shall be enforceable without the approval of the state douma and that it shall be possible for the elected of the people to exercise real participation in the supervision of the legality of the acts of the authorities appointed by us.

We appeal to all faithful sons of Russia to remember their duty toward the fatherland, to aid in terminating these unprecedented troubles and to apply all their forces in co-operation with us to the restoration of calm and peace upon our natal soil.

The authorities did all in their power to encourage the spirit of rejoicing over the newly granted liberties. It was by order of General Trepoff that the regulation decorations were hung out, the troops were withdrawn to their barracks and the police were instructed to permit the people to vent their feelings.

The city appeared to have gone mad. Such scenes had never before been witnessed in Russia. Unrestrained by deed or word, the crowd did and said what they liked. Despotism seemed suddenly to have been replaced by license. Red flags were everywhere in evidence. In the churches devout men and women on bended knees before the image of St. Nicholas the Miracle Worker rendered thanks for the blessings of liberty, while at the corners of the thronged streets orators harangued the populace.

Washington, Oct. 31.—Mr. Ridgely, the comptroller of the currency, had a conference with Judge Oldham, the law officer of his bureau, who has just returned from Pittsburg, where he has been for some days assisting in the investigation of the affairs of the failed Enterprise National bank of Allegheny. After the conference Mr. Ridgely said that so far as the condition of the bank appears from the examination now being made it is safe to say that the shortage will not be less than $1,500,000.

Canal Expenditures.

Washington, Oct. 31.—In a preliminary report by the isthmian canal commission expenditures from June 28, 1902, the date when the $10,000,000 appropriation by congress became available, to June 30, 1905, it is shown the outlay amounted to $4,009,543.76. It is expected the balance, which was $6,083,415.53 June 30, will be entirely exhausted by the close of this year. Unless congress makes provision before the $10,000,000 is entirely depleted the commission will be in an embarrassing position.

MOTHER HUBBARD ENGINES.

"Scientific American" Tells Why They Are Dangerous.

Referring to the recent death of Engineer Merritt Turner, who expired suddenly in the cab of the Erie's "Chicago Limited," near Deposit, the Scientific American has this to say in its leading editorial of its issue of Oct. 7: "The time has recently come for a protest against a certain type of locomotives or rather against the present way of manning such locomotives, which constitutes a grave peril to the pasengers of certain railroads. We refer to what is poularly known as the 'Mother Hubbard' type. When we remember that on many of the best managed roads there is a strict law that the fireman shall check off the signals with the engineer, we can see that, on the face of it, the separation of the two men introduces an element of risk in the misinterpretation of signals. But over and above this is the far more serious risk that the engineer may be suddenly taken sick, or even stricken down in death by apoplexy or heart failure."

Monument of the Erie.

A twelve and a half ton monument has just been erected near the stock yards east of Deposit to commemorate the breaking of ground for the construction of the Erie railroad, on the spot where the first shovelful of dirt was removed as the beginning of that great enterprise in 1835.

Save the country and save it early in the morning of Tuesday next.

Take it upon yourself to see that every Republican in your district casts his vote.

A man who will not take sufficient interest in his country to cast his vote does not deserve a country.

Attend to two things on election day—vote yourself and see to it that your Republican neighbor votes.

A candidate who enters a fight "subject to the Republican rules" should remain a Republican at least till the end of the campaign.

"The Old Argus" wants to save the Democratic commissionership and feelingly refers to it as "the last vestige of Democratic power in the county."

John W. Codding, the Republican nominee, will make an excellent sheriff. Every Republican in the county should go to the polls and vote for him. Tuesday next is the day.

Alden Keyes of Sylvania borough, and Wilbur Gorham of Orwell, will audit the accounts of Bradford county for three years to come, and they will do it well. Give them your vote on Nov. 7.

Langdon H. Marsh is in every way qualified to give the county good service as commissioner. He is a good business man and a practical and successful farmer. If you are a Republican be sure to go to the polls and give him your vote.

Millions of dollars' worth of fruit, fruit trees, ornamental trees and shrubbery have been destroyed in Pennsylvania during recent years by a very small insect known as the San Jose scale. This insect is so inconspicuous that it has destroyed orchards without the owner knowing the cause of the trouble. It can be only detected by an expert or one who has seen it.

The World figures that the total value of the farm products of the United States for the year 1905 will equal approximately the total value of all the gold produced in the world for the last thirty years. The annual output of the world's gold and silver mines is even now worth less than one-tenth the gross output of American farms for a single year.

That unwholesome bi-products discarded by manufacturers of patent breakfast foods are being utilized as adulterants for feeding stuffs for cattle is one of the discoveries that the state department of agriculture has made in the course of investigations that it is now scientifically engaged in making, and Secretary N. B. Critchfield states that his department will soon institute some prosecutions.

On January 1st, next the law requiring all owners of automobiles to take out a license for their machines, will go into effect. This law will require owners to pay $3 annually for renewing the license. The money thus derived is to be appropriated to the use of the state highway department. The speed limit is fixed to a mile in six minutes in cities and boroughs and a mile in three minutes in townships. That is equivalent to ten miles an hour in boroughs and twenty miles an hour in townships.

A LAST WORD.

As this is the last opportunity before election to urge upon voters their duty as electors we may be pardoned for again recurring to a subject which has been worn almost threadbare during the past few weeks.

In the first place, every voter should go to the polls. This is a trite saying and to many seems wearisome, but it includes everything. Our government, being one of party, it is the duty of every citizen to vote. If the majority is to rule that majority should vote its full force and not claim power by a few ballots. Elections by default or by accident are dangerous experiments. A land without political enthusiasm will soon become politically descrepit. Voting, then, it is more than a mere privilege of manhood, it is a duty. The evils of our politics come more from the inattention of the masses to their duty at the polls than to any inherent cynicism or weak morality, and the non voting population often actually holds the balance of power.

It is the duty then of every citizen to cast behind him all factional bias and personal consideration and exercise the highest privileges of freedom. To vote is his duty, always, but to every Republican this year there are especial reasons why he should not fail to do so. First, the ticket is above criticism; second, there are vast national interests at stake, and the people cannot afford to let the Democratic party gain any ground or receive a mite of encouragement from any falling off in the Republican majority; third, there is great danger that a reduced Republican vote may result in the defeat of part of the county ticket. A desperate effort is being made by the Democrats to bring about this result. It has no chance of success except through disaffection or indifference of Republican voters. If a considerable number of these should stay away from the polls or vote for the Independent or Democratic candidates for commissioner the defeat of one of the Republican candidates would result. We can not believe that there is as much danger of this as some of our friends imagine, but forewarned is forarmed; and in view of this warning, apathy or voting for any other than the straight Republican ticket will be entirely inexcusable. Let there be no complimentary voting or trading of votes by Republicans. There is not the least possible justification for it. The Republican nominees are capable and honest. They were fairly nominated and they are entitled to the vote of every Republican who can get to the polls on election day. Let every Republican go to the polls and help to roll up an old time majority for every candidate on the ticket.

THE COUNTY TICKET.

On Tuesday next the electorate of Bradford county will vote for county offices. There will be chosen a sheriff, a prothonotary, a register and recorder, three commissioners, a treasurer, three auditors and a coroner.

The Republican ticket is printed at head of our editorial columns and to it we invite the attention and scrutiny of every voter in the county, be he Republican or not. Is there in it an objectionable candidate, a man who is unfit in any way for the office for which he is named? Is there a candidate named who if elected, would not serve the people well and prove a good and efficient officer? There is not—not one. It is a strong and exceptionally good ticket in all its parts, from sheriff to coroner. It is a ticket on which the Republican party of Bradford may go before the electorate and ask for votes on the strength of the candidates named. It is a ticket for which no apologes need be offered, but, on the contrary, which may be pointed to with pride and worked for with enthusiasm. And with all its merits it is a Republican ticket and deserves the zealous and united support of every Republican voter in Bradford county. Let it be given, then. Let a Republican be a Republican, and not an assistant Democrat.

If you are a Republican and anyone asks you to cut your ticket and vote for this or that candidate not named by your party, tell him you are a Republican and that no ticket in the field is cleaner or stronger as to its personnel than the Republican, and that when the Republican party nominates as good a lot of men as it has this time it is the duty of all Republicans to vote for them.

Some of our sportsmen might heed the appeal of state game and fish warden, C. S. Lowry, of Pennsylvania, in regard to quail. He says: "I respectfully ask all the hunters to spare the quail. The three hard winters that we have recently passed through have almost entirely wiped out "Bob White," there being but a few left, and with the few that have been distributed by the sportsmen, and should the winter be mild we will then have some quail, as they hatch two broods, where the pheasant only hatches one brood."

C. P. Dewey for register and recorder should poll a vote on Tuesday next that will be a record breaker. A candidate better qualified for the duties of the position could not have been found. Give him a big vote and bear in mind that Tuesday next is the day.

SUBJECT TO REPUBLICAN RULE.

If being a candidate subject to Republican rules means that the candidate may try Republican rules, and if he cannot get the nomination then, try Democratic rules, or Independent rules, or any old rules, or no rules at all, only so that he gets his name on the ticket, then Mr. Bentley's candidacy is all right and no one has cause to complain. But if being a candidate subject to Republican rules means that after all effort has been made to secure the nomination at the Republican primaries, in accordance with the rules governing Republican primary elections, the defeated candidate is to abide by the result, then Mr. Bentley's candidacy is all wrong and those who voted for him in June were deceived.

Mr. Bentley was a candidate for commissioner at the primaries in June and was defeated. His candidacy, he announced everywhere, by advertisement and by personal interview, was "subject to the rules of the Republican party of Bradford county," and upon that distinct and clear pledge of party loyalty he asked for the support of the Republican voters. Now Mr. Bentley is a candidate for the same office on an independent ticket, opposing the men who were regularly nominated by the Republican party. What do the Republicans who voted for him in June think of it, and how do they like it? Was he acting in good faith when he asked their support last Spring; and is he entitled to any sympathy or help from them now?

The principle which Mr. Bentley's candidacy violates is the one on which our national government is founded—the principle of majority rule. He lost at the primaries because a majority of the voters expressed a preference for another candidate, and in our national, state, municipal and township elections this result is final and cannot be appealed from. By the act of being a candidate at the primaries he consented to abide by their result. No process of reasoning which recognizes the principle of majority rule will justify him in running as an independent canddate. From such a course he is estopped by his caucus canvas if he is a person of honor and keeps his pledge.

At the primary elections Mr. Harkness polled 3034 votes, Mr. Marsh 3003 and Mr. Bentley 2598, which leaves Mr. B. 405 below his lowest competitor. Mr. Bentley seeks to justify his independent candidacy by the claim that in Springfield township the ballot box was tampered with and he was deprived of some votes. But he does not claim that the votes that were taken from him were sufficient to have nominated him. We deplore the opening of the Springfield ballot box. There was no excuse for it. But there was no criminal intent. It was a grave blunder, the result of a thoughtless impulse to correct what appeared to be an obvious mistake. It was however, an inexcusable tampering with the ballot box, and we trust it may never be repeated in Bradford county.

This incident, while it made no difference in the result of the primaries, and in no way affected Mr. Bentley's fortunes, has, it seems, furnished him with the pretext he wanted for being a candidate for the office he has thrice sought, and for which he has thrice been defeated by the Republican voters of this county. But this unfortunate happening in Springfield township does not release Mr. Bentley from the obligation he assumed or from the pledge that was self imposed when he launched his candidacy last Spring "subject to Republican rules."

We believe the Republican voters of Bradford county see this thing in its true light and have not lost sight of the simple facts. We believe they are not being lead astray by a loud Democratic howl about tampering with the ballot box, and that their view is not diverted from these two facts, to-wit: That giving Mr. Bentley all the votes he claims he lost by the opening of the Springfield ballot box, he was beaten in the county by a decisive majority, and was still a candidate "subject to Republican rules."

Having submitted his claims to the Republican voters for their decision with the pledge that he would be governed by the rules of the party, Mr. Bentley was bound in honor by that decision. Having refused to be so bound and having repudiated his pledges to the Republican voters, with what grace can he again ask for their support? But, having had the effrontery to do so he can not complain if they in turn repudiate him. This they should do, for certainly he has forfeited all claim on them. The American people like fair play in politics as in everything else, and we greatly miss our guess if the Republican voters of this county do not say by their votes next Tuesday that they have no further use for Mr. Bentley.

Republicans have a candidate for Prothonotary in Willis G. Gordon who should poll every vote in the party. Tuesday next is the day. Give Mr. Gordon an old time majority. We predict he will prove to be one of the best prothonotaries Bradford county ever had.

It is as much your duty to vote as it is to pay your taxes.

Vote early.

REPUBLICANS READY.

State Chairman Andrews Predicts Big Victory on Tuesday.

ALL ISSUES SQUARELY MET.

Reports Received From Every County Are of the Most Gratifying Character—Allegheny Bank Failure Not an Issue Here.

(Special Correspondence.)

Harrisburg, Oct. 31.

Republicans of Pennsylvania are certain to give a good account of themselves at the election on Tuesday next.

Pennsylvania expects every man to do his duty, and there will be no default when the time comes for action.

The campaign which is about to close has been less exciting than many that have taken place in recent years, but the Republican hosts are not taking anything for granted, and they will meet their old political enemies in the battle of the ballots with their old-time determination to rout every foe of Republicanism, no matter under what name he shall be listed for the fray.

The Republicans of the Keystone state expect to elect their entire ticket by more than the customary off-year majorities. They have candidates of exceptional strength and they have met every issue squarely and fairly as it has been presented, and they have nothing to apologize for or to explain.

J. Lee Plummer, the nominee for state treasurer, has been before the people of this state for years, and there has not been a truthful word uttered in derogation of his character.

The state campaign has been waged systematically and with close attention to every detail by Colonel Wesley R. Andrews, chairman of the Republican state committee, and he has every reason to be pleased with the reports that come to him from every county in the state.

No Political Issue Here.

In the closing days of the canvass a desperate attempt is being made to inject the failure of the Enterprise National Bank of Allegheny into the political campaign.

There is no justification for this.

The reason for the bank failure seems to be clear enough. The cashier manipulated the deposits, loaned the funds on his own account and was personally interested in various schemes for which he seems to have furnished money. It has been discovered that collateral that was deposited with him to safeguard the loans of patrons has disappeared—has been rehypothecated to save the cashier's enterprise. A great ado has been made over the fact that a development company that has been promoting a railroad enterprise in New Mexico in which W. H. Andrews and some Pittsburg capitalists are interested got money from the institution.

The capitalists, it has been shown, are amply able to make good all their paper, but the fact that Andrews some years ago was a political leader in Pennsylvania and that one of his colleagues, Mr. Kennedy, at one time was a state senator, was quite sufficient to float charges that the bank was a political institution; that it received state moneys on the condition that politicians should be granted loans, and so on.

It is the same old familiar talk with which defamers of Pennsylvania have regaled the people for years past, but there is not a particle of evidence to support the charges.

Under law numerous banks are designated as depositories for state money, and the Enterprise bank has been on the list for years. It was supposed to be exceptionally strong. It is certain that the state is fully protected, and that not a single penny will be lost by the failure.

It may take a few days to get down to all of the details, but in the course of time they will all come out. Governor Pennypacker has written to President Roosevelt asking for a complete investigation and offering all the aid in his power. By taking this step he makes it apparent that he has every confidence in the administration of the treasury department and that there is nothing whatever to conceal. Treasurer Mathues has made public a list of the depositories for the sinking fund and has been perfectly frank in his explanations of the method of placing state funds.

State Never Lost.

Opponents of the Republican party cannot be prevented from manufacturing falsehoods to serve partisan ends, but the fact still remains that under Republican management Pennsylvania has never lost a cent through its treasury department, and J. Lee Plummer, the Republican candidate for state treasurer, is entitled to the respect and the confidence of the public when he says:

"If I am elected state treasurer I shall conduct the office on strict business lines. I shall be most careful and rigorous in exacting adequate security from all depositories of state funds. No political influence shall govern or control me in my selection of depositories. I have no political promises to keep and no political engagements to fulfill."

On the strength of the bank failure the Democrats have perked up and through their state committee are claiming about everything in sight. It is the assertion of Colonel Guffey that Berry, the Democratic candidate for state treasurer, will come to Philadelphia with 60,000 majority.

This assertion is promptly met by Chairman Andrews, of the Republican state committee, whose figures show fully 100,000 majority in the state outside of Philadelphia.

Go to the polls early.

PHILADELPHIA NOT THE STATE.

The city of Philadelphia is not the state of Pennsylvania. The latter includes the former and a great deal more besides. Philadelphia has a good right to rid herself of the abuses and corruptions which exist within her borders and Pennsylvanians at large wish her the largest measure of success in her present heroic housecleaning.

But it is only a housecleaning for Philadelphia. Because things are wrong there it is not a good reason why a Republican outside should vote against his party. United States Senator Knox when he said a few days ago: "I believe the best way to maintain National Republican supremacy is to maintain the supremacy of the party within the States, and the best way to maintain the supremacy of the party within the States and to make the State's influence proportionate to its greatness is, in my judgment to have the party meet the just and reasonable demands of the people for wise legislation and honest administration."

Is this not sound and true, every word of it? If it is not true wherein is it not? The way to keep the Republican party in power in the Union is to maintain Republican supremacy in the States, and who says no to this is either befuddled in his mind or is not a Republican. Philadelphia will cleanse herself. She is now hard at it and will do it. Let her do it. And let Republicans at large keep Pennsylvania Republican and not be led to strike at their own party by the cries of Democrats who, seeing a fight on in Philadelphia, are trying to make the people believe it is to their interests to turn in and swing the state for Democracy. The Republican state ticket is a most excellent one. Not a word can be said against any man on it. The nominees are all Republicans, nominated by Republican men and methods and should be overwhelmingly elected by Republican votes in November.

AN INTERESTING OPINION.

The following opinion of general interst was rendered sometime ago, by Judge McClure, of the seventeenth judicial district: "if the branches of trees growing on one's land hang over the line upon the other, the adjoining owner may cut the limbs perpendicularly with his line, providing the branches have not been allowed to extend over a period of twenty-one years or more without objection, when no right would be gained to cut them off. Fruit on a tree is part of the realty and is not the subject of larceny.

If the fruit has fallen to the ground the neighbor could pick it up and use it. The right of the adjoining land owner to lop off branches of overhanging trees before 21 years of permissive acquiescence has elapsed, does not carry with it the right to the fruit hanging on the tree. The fruit is not the product of his toil or labor."

A Good Definition.

A Pennsylvania school boy has given this unique and original definition of a friend: "A friend is a person who knows all about you and likes you just the same."

Edson D. Harkness has made an excellent county commissioner. He is capable, honest and faithful. Not a word can be said against his official record or against nim as a man and citizen. He should poll every Republican vote in Bradford county next Tuesday.

Tuesday next will tell the story and in Bradford county it will be the old, old story.

GENEROUS GIFT TO PACKER HOSPITAL.

Mrs. Cummings Further Evidences Her Interest in Sayre Institution.

Mrs. Mary Packer Cummings of Mauch Chunk, sister of the late R. A. Packer of Sayre, has agreed to give to the Robert Packer hospital which was named for her late brother, the income from certain real estate which will amount to more than $3,000 per year.

The above fact was announced on October 24 by Dr. C. H. Ott, physican and surgeon in chief of the hospital at a meeting of the trustees of the institution. Dr. Ott read a letter to the trustees which was as follows:

Mauch Chunk, Pa., Oct. 20, 1905.

Dr. C. H. Ott, superintendent of Robert Packer hospital, Sayre, Pa.

My dear Mr. Ott:

I want to assure you of my interest in the hospital and my satisfaction with your administration of affairs. The plot of ground adjoining the hospital on the south, I shall be glad to deed to the hospital when you find use for it in the extension of buildings. I have some real estate, the net income of which it is my intention to contribute to the support of the hospital, beginning with this year. This income will naturally vary but it ought to average some $3,000 per year.

I want to take this opportunity to commend the unselfish labors of those who for so many years have given the work such loval and enthusiastic co-operation and to express the hope that the future will tell of even greater usefulness.

Very truly yours,

Mrs. Mary Packard Cummings.

Mrs. Cummings has ever been generous to the hospital. A few months ago she gave $1,000 to the institution and during January 1904 an equal amount was also given. When the last check was received, it was thought that her generosity would not extend any further for at least a year to come so that her recent decision is not only a surprise to those interested in the hospital but it will be gratefully accepted.

COMMENDED LOCAL OFFICERS.

Judge Archbald in United States Court Praises Good Work.

At the trial of Edward King, the Camptown postoffice burglar at Scranton recently, Attorney Manning for the defense made a great deal of capital over the fact that Officer Hollon had taken King's shoes away from him and he had been obliged to go in his stocking feet at the Bradford county jail. Mr. Manning took a slap at the police in general, saying that their efforts in this case had amounted to an inquistion. The attorney continued on this strain for a few minutes until Judge Archbald put a very speedy quietus on him.

The court said that it was the duty of the officers to use their utmost efforts to ferret out the perpetrators of crime and bring them to justice and that the Towanda officers should be praised instead of blamed for their good work on this case. United States District Attorney McCarrell also paid a fine tribute to the work of Mr. Hollon, Mr. Miller and other officers in this section not only for their work in the King case but in previous cases.

Interesting Case.

W. E. Shoemaker, special fish warden, was in Towanda on Saturday in the mater of the proposed prosecution of J. H. Storch for alleged illegal fishing in a pond in Pike township. FUNERAL OF F. N. BETTS.

Large Number of Friends Gather at Last Rites.

Funeral services for Frederick N. Betts were held Thursday afternoon at the family residence on Main street. There was a large attendance of friends and relatives present. Lin-ta Hose company of which Mr. Betts was one of the most active and popular members attended in a body and there was also a representation of members from Masonic bodies in this place of which Mr. Betts was a prominent member. The services were conducted by Rev. John S. Stewart, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of which Mr. Betts was a regular attendant, assisted by Dr. O. A. Houghton of the Methodist Episcopal church and Rev. Edwin A. Gernant, rector of Christ church.

Rev. Gernant read portions of Scripture, prayer was offered by Dr. Houghton after which Dr. Stewart gave the funeral sermon and offered prayer. The interment was made in Oak Hill cemetery. The pall bearers were F. C. Overton, F. D. Montanye, W. F. Humphrey, F. Wyatt Frost, David Cash and John K. Stewart. The floral tributes were very beautiful.

HEARING ADJOURNED.

In the Matter of the Reduction of the Fees of County Treasurer.

The petition signed by a large number of taxpayers in the county asking that the fees of the county treasurer's office be fixed at a sum not to exceed $1,500 was presented to the county commissioners, John D. Kinney, Edson D. Harkness and M. J. McNulty, and two of the county auditors, H. A. Bosworth and C. H. Donovan, Thursday afternoon.

The present board took the position that it would not be a proper thing for them to take action which would govern the next board and it was thought best to wait until the next treasurer is elected in order that the officer's side of the case may be presented. Accordingly the meeting was adjourned until Nov. 9.

The commissioners and auditors have taken considerable interest in the matter of reducing the fees and are favorably inclined toward the petition. They, however, believe that as a retiring board their action will not affect the incoming board which fixes the salary of the office at their meeting the first of the year.

A Concrete Crossing.

A new crossing is being put down on Main street at the intersection on Maple street. This is a crossing that has been badly needed for years as it is located near the public library and the Methodist Episcopal church. Chief Miller, who is acting as street commissioner is experimenting with a concrete crossing and if it proves successful it is likely that concrete will be used in the future.

Took Poison by Mistake.

Mr. Barth intended to take headache tablets and by mistake took some ink erasing tablets which contained poison. The doctors worked with him all night, and his condition was consdered dangerous all day Sunday. But slight hopes are entertained for his recovery.

There are more than 100 cases in the two boroughs, and prompt measures have been taken by Commissioner Dixon to prevent the spread of the disease to the adjacent territory.

Eugene S. Sage, a baggagemaster on the Susquehanna & New York who is well known in Towanda where he lives, and Miss Julia Walsh of Powell were married at St. Agnes hall at 9 o'clock last Wednesday by Rev. Foster. Martin Crotty of Towanda was best man and Miss Caldwell of Powell bridesmaid.

Election Ballots Printed.

The ballots for the November election have been printed. A total of 16,287 votes are registered in the county and this is the number of specimen ballots that are printed. A total of 24,414 official ballots are to be printed, making 40,700 in all.

TAXPAYERS ASSOCIATIONS WORKING FOR GOOD END.

Are to Do Away With Working Out of Road Taxes.

There are several taxpayers' associations in Bradford county that are doing vigorous work. Among the objects most discussed is one looking toward the doing away with the right of taxpayers to work out their road taxes and substituting in its place the money tax. The Herrick Taxpayers' association has gone farther with the matter than any other. At a meeting on Saturday night, which was attended by fully 100 voters, it was decided to take the necessary steps toward the accomplishment of the plan.

A petition signed by 25 taxpayers will be presented to the Bradford county court asking that the matter be presented to the voters at the time of the February elections. If a majority of the voters decide in favor of the change it will be made. Under a new state law the township will then be divided up into districts of five miles each with a competent man over each section. Then under this same law, the state pays to such a township 15 per cent of all money paid in for road taxes. The road tax in Herrick is about $2,000 so that the township would receive from the state $300 a year which would be used for the pay of the supervisors.

Working out road taxes has been one of the standing jokes of the townships of the county. Where one man is honest about the matter and gives full return for the money ten are indifferent in the matter and only do what has to be done to get their tax off. This statement is not made on the authority of those in towns in criticism of the country but comes directly from the country people themselves. A money tax in townships in regard to roads will be one of the greatest boons that ever struck Bradford county.

TRESPASS LAWS DEFINED.

The Informer Does Not Benefit From a Conviction.

There has been some misapprehension concerning the trespass law recently enacted and many believe that one-half of the fine goes to the prosecutor, and that the fine is fixed at ten dollars or ten days. The law says the fine shall not exceed ten dollars, hence a Justice of the Peace could place the fine at any amount under that sum he thought equitable in consideration of the facts in the case.

Thus if a man simply went through another man's woods and did no damage the Justice of the Peace might conclude the offense was so slight that the nominal fee of a few cents would be just right. On the other hand if the trespasser tore down a fence, cut down a chestnut tree, picked berries, or trampled down grass or growing crops it would seem that the offense might most equitably be treated by the imposing of a fine of five or ten dollars, which would have a tendency to remind the trespasser that he should respect the rights of his fellow men.

In regard to the disposition of the fine the law states that the entire fine shall go into the treasury of the school board of the township in which the trespass occurs. The costs in the case of conviction shall be placed on the defendant. The intention of the law does not appear to be so much to restrain hunters—the regular fish and game law does that—but rather to cover more thoroughly that class of trespassers who go into meadows to pick berries and enter woodland and cut down trees to obtain nuts.

Ulster Pastor Resigned.

Rev. Fenton C. Jones, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Ulster for the past ten years, tendered his resignation on Oct. 22 and asked that the same be accepted as soon as the Presbytery has been assembled to dissolve the pastorate. An Ulster correspondent says of Mr. Jones: "Mr. Jones has held the position for more than ten years with loyalty to the best interests of the church. He has many friends who will regret that he feels that he must sever his relation with the church, and trust he will meet with success wherever he may cast his lot. He is a grand sermonizer and whatever church receives his services will be fortunate indeed."

INSTITUTE PLAY.

Will Be Produced in Hale's Opera House on Thanksgiving Night.

A home talent play will be given in Hale's Opera House on Thanksgiving night for the benefit of the Susquehanna Collegiate Institute. The Ladies' Historical club of Towanda at a recent meeting decided to take up civic work in addition to its program for this year and the particular line of endeavor will be in connection with the needs of the Institute. The play will be produced under the management of the Historical club.

The Institute has opened this year under very favorable auspices. Principal T. M. Morrison and Mrs. Morrison, who have charge of the school, have made an excellent impression and Towanda is backing up the institution with its most hearty support. The building is in need of many improvements to put it in proper condition and the proceeds of the entertainment at the opera house will be used for such purposes as it deemed best. It is a project that will meet with encouragement from every former scholar of the school and from every Towandian who is a well wisher for the town.

BLAZE AT SAYRE.

Towanda Guests Were at House Which Caught Fire.

The residence of S. T. Harleman, assistant superintendent of the new shops at Sayre, caught fire Saturday evening while Mr. Harleman and his wife and Mr. and Mrs. George Johnston, the latter of Towanda, were seated at the supper table, but the flames were subdued before any great damage was done, except in the cellar of the residence.

Mr. Harleman had been ill for several days but Saturday evening was able to sit at the supper table. Suddenly a smell of smoke was noticed. A garden hose was hastily procured and a stream was turned in the cellar from which the smoke was issuing in great volumes. Sunday Mr. Harleman's conditioon was not so good but he was able to accompany his wife to Towanda where he will spend several days recuperating wrile guests of Mrs. Harleman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Kizer.—Evening News.

Has a Position Near Chicago.

C. T. Smith, 15 years a printer employed in Towanda, and for nine years an attache of The Daily Review, left Towanda Friday afternoon for Waukeegan, Ill., where he has taken a desirable situation as pressman in the office of The Sun. The Sun office is under the jurisdiction of the typographical union, is finely equipped and will give Mr. Smith a wider field for the display of his talents as a thoroughly good all 'round workman. He learned his trade in the office of the Bradford Republican, now incorporated in the business of this office, and came to The Review when that paper was bought by McKee Bros., a record of continuous service that speaks volumes for his worth. As a mark of their esteem his associates in this office presented him a handsome gold mounted pipe.

Assault and Battery Case.

C. F. Larcom, employed in the tannery at Powell, swore out a warrant before Justice Orcutt Monday charging Dan Maloney of Powell with assault and battery. Maloney is also a tannery employe but the affair is alleged to have occurred near the state bridge at Masontown. Larcum claims that Maloney, who was driving a rig, refused to let him by with his rig, and some words followed. Larcum did not know who the obstructor was at the time. Maloney got out of his rig and coming over to Larcum struck him in the face with his fist and on the head with a whip. Larcum claims that Maloney was the aggressor throughout and that he himself did nothing to call forth any such attack.

Thanks, Don't Want Any.

Of the sinking fund of the State the First National bank of Sayre has $20,000. Of the general fund the First National bank of Athens has on deposit $10,000; Farmers National bank, Athens, $10,000; First National bank, Sayre, $8,000; making a total of $48,000 of State funds deposited in banks at Athens and Sayre. Towanda banks have none. They seem to have lost their hold with the State treasury gang.—Towanda Argus.

Don't Like Small Towns.

The Lehigh Valley is experiencing great difficulty in getting enough skilled mechanics for the new shops at Sayre. There are a number of men at Wilkesbarre whom the Valley would like to have remove to Sayre but the men do not want to go to a smaller place than their old home. They will probably seek employment in other shops in Wilkesbarre or some other city.

To Promote Sobriety.

"The Reclaimed' is the name of a new organization which was recently employed by the employes of the Lehigh Valley. The organization was perfected at Lackawanna Junction, Pittston, and it will be auxiliary to the general organization which is rapidly growing in the South and West. The object is to promote sobriety and morality and discourage vice among the railroad men.

The entire stock of M. KAUFMAN, Towanda's Greatest Outfitter for Men and Boys, to be sold at his store in Towanda, Pa., in Eighteen Days. The reason why---

M. Kaufman bought heavily the past season, in fact blindly. He looked for the greatest business of his career, every sign failed, and it was very backward. HIS WINTER STOCK IS ALL HERE. M. Kaufman having been in the clothing business for the past 18 years and always discounted his bills, as this season is backward he needs the cash to discount the bills. HE NEEDS CASH, HE MUST HAVE CASH—NOT THE GOODS—therefore he has concluded to sacrifice his entire stock for less than the actual cost of the raw material. The building is now closed to re-mark and re-arrange the stock and will remain closed until Friday, November 3. at 9 o'clock a. m, when the great sale will begin.

Is It Right?

Is it right that a property-owner should lose $4.20 to let a dealer make 50 cents? A dealer makes 50 cents more on fourteen gallons of ready-for use paint, at $1.50 per gallon, than our agent does on eight gallons of L & M, paint and six gallons of linseed oil, which make fourteen gallons of the best paint in the world, at $1.20 per gallon; the property owner loses just $4.20. Is it right?

It only requires 4 gallons of L. & M. and 3 gallons linseed oil to paint a moderate sized house.

New York, Oct. 27.—A damage suit against a railroad listed for trial in the supreme court takes an uncommon element of interest from the fact that it is the first case in which a law firm composed of women ever has appeared as counsel. NEW YORK FASHIONS

Patterns For a Fetching Coat Suit Designed by Martha Dean. Nos. 6340 and 6341

In styles for street suits the coat and skirt are of course first. The new models show the loose hip and three-quarter length coats as very smart. They carry with them a dash, and style quite their own and are becoming to slender as well as round figures. The one portrayed is simple and yet chic. It is developed in a Panama brown serge and is sure to prove serviceable. The coat hangs loose to below the hips and closes in double breasted style. Two spacious pockets are true to the fancy of the Parisian woman and may be used or not. The skirt is a nine gored model, fitting trimly over the hips and flaring gracefully about the lower edge. It is a design especially modish with this kind of a coat and not at all difficult to fashion at home. Tweed, voile, homespun, cheviot or broadcloth might serve as material for this suit. Two patterns—No. 6340, six sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure; No. 6341, six sizes, 30 to 30 inches waist.

Pattern For an Effective Blouse Designed by Martha Dean—No. 6343

It is gratifying to see the progress of good taste among the devotees of fashion in the appreciation of fine materials. The finely tucked lingerie materials are held just as highly in the scale of worth as the most exquisite silks. In the separate blouse these sheer lingerie materials realize their most charming effects, as the development of the waist portrayed will show. The miniature tucks, extending to yoke depth, front and back, broaden the shoulder line and give a modish blouse which is drawn down easily into the girdle. The front panel effect is shown embroidered in English eyelet work, as are also the cuffs and collar. These may be elaborated in other ways, using Italian lace insertion and edging sewed together for a lingerie blouse. In case of a silk or cloth waist the plain materials may be used alone or braid or passementeries applied. The pattern is very simple to follow, and the veriest amateur need feel no trepidation in undertaking it. No. 6343, five sizes, 32 to 40 inches bust measure.

The pickpocket was overhauled by a policeman and held for a hearing without bail.—Republican Advocate.

WOULD KICK AND SCREAM

Baby's Awful Suffering from Eczema — Could Not Hold Her — Tore Face and Arms Almost to Pieces— Grateful Mother Says:

"CUTICURA REMEDIES SAVED HER LIFE"

"When my little girl was six months old, she had eczema. We had used cold creams and all kinds of remedies, but nothing did her any good; in fact, she kept getting worse. I used to wrap her hands up, and when I would dress her, I had to put her on the table, for I could not hold her. She would kick and scream, and when she could, she would tear her face and arms almost to pieces. I used four boxes of Cuticura Ointment, two cakes of Cuticura Soap, and gave her the Cuticura Resolvent, and she was cured, and I see no traces of the humour left. I can truthfully say that they have saved her life, and I should advise any one suffering as she did, to give Cuticura a fair trial. Mrs. G. A. Conrad, Lisbon, N. H., Feb. 7, 1898."

FIVE YEARS LATER

Mrs. Conrad Writes

"It is with pleasure that I can inform you that the cure has been permanent. It is now six years since she was cured, and there has been no return of the disease since. I have advised a lot of friends to use Cuticura in all diseases of the skin."

FLAG RAISING.

One Put up at the School House at Sheshequin.

On Friday afternoon the school at Sheshequin held appropriate exercises in honor of the raising of their flag. The south school room was elaborately decorated with flags, bunting, pictures and green. Rev. Mr. Fisher of Ulster gave a very pleasing address, after which the children gave the military flag salute and repeated the following pledge:

"We, the children of many lands, who find rest under thy folds, do pledge our lives, our hearts and sacred honor to protect thee, our country and the liberty of the American people forever."

After the exercises the flag was raised by Rodney Horton, son of B. E. Horton, a lad of seven years, who, through his own efforts, raised a subscription among the patrons of the school to procure the flag. The pole which stands 48½ feet was given by Mr. Ayers. The flag is six by ten feet and can now be seen proudly waving over the quiet little village; symbolizing the pride of our country and the liberty of the American people. L. Hard Lines for Lehigh.

Lehigh university was once a leading stockholder in the Lehigh Valley railroad. Asa Packer, the father of the road and the founder of the university, bequeathed the stock to the institution of learning at South Bethlehem. Once these 150,000 shares yielded the university a large income. But after the dividend was cut off after 1893, the institution suffered greatly. It needed money and so felt obliged to sell its stock and Drexels bought it. The shares are worth today $8,000,000 more than the university received for them, or just about three times what it got.

Elmira's Exciting Time.

A Spaulding street youngster will play no more tricks on the family cat. Yesterday he placed a piece of sticky flypaper on the floor of the kitchen so that the cat would step on it. His expectation was fulfilled. The cat, in its efforts to get rid of the sticky stuff, made a flying leap for the table, laden with pies and cakes, which Mrs. H.——was busy baking, plowed its way through the pastry, upset a pot filled with hot coffee, severely scalding the baby and ended by upsetting and smashing a $5 cut glass cream jar.—Elmira Star.

MET TWO BEARS.

Man Near Coudersport Had Exciting Experience.

Frank Harrington, of Barie, eight miles from Coudersport, had a thrilling experience with two bears a night or two ago while driving to his home from Hulls. Suddenly, while trotting along at a good pace, his horses stopped and began to give evidence of being badly frightened. Mr. Harrington looked ahead of the horses a few rods and in the moonlight distinguished the forms of two large animals which he concluded were bears. The road was too narrow to permit him to turn his wagon around, and as he did not have a weapon of any kind, he did not dare engage in an open fight with the animals.

He concluded to drive his horses by the bears at a speed so rapid that the ferocious looking beasts would not have time to stop him. He applied the whip to his horses, pulled them as far to the side of the road as possible and passed the two bears who sat up on their haunches as he passed. They did not offer to attack him nor did they move from the positions they were in when he first discovered them. The experience, however is one he will not soon forget.

For some time farmers in the vicinity of Barie have lost several sheep and it is believed beyond a doubt that they have been the victims of an old bruin. One farmer in that section suggests that a large bounty be placed on bears and that an effort be made to exterminate them.

THE SAN JOSE SCALE.

Specimens Will Be Examined at Pomona Grange Meeting.

W. B. Packard of Granville Summit, one of the most important Grangers in this section, has been appointed one of the 21 inspectors to be sent out by the department of agriculture of the state under the division of zoology to inspect the San Jose scale and also to demonstrate at the proper time how to destroy this pest. Mr. Packard will be at the meeting of Pomona Grange to be held at West Franklin in November and will explain the working of this particular department, the remedy for this pest and will inspect such twigs and branches as patrons may bring from any part of these counties, free of charge.

Such twigs or branches should be green or only partially dead, and from the following varieties: Apple, cherry, plum, peach, pear, apricot, etc. These twigs should be taken from trees not more than 12 or 14 years old, and as late as this year's setting. Please label all packages with name of owner and where secured. This will be an excellent chance for Patrons of Husbandry to show the benefits of co-operation by greatly aiding in this work.

Bradford county is to be congratulated in securing these skilled men as instructors in this work. This is the first meeting of the kind ever held in the state.

Pierce—Tabor.

On Thursday afternoon of last week a very pretty home wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs Lelia Tabor at Canton when her eldest daughter, Florence, was married to Hurley J. Pierce, of Waverly. The ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock by the Rev. F. W. Johnson, of the Baptist church, Canton, and the wedding march was played by Mrs. F. W. Johnson. The house was beautifully decorated with potted plants and autumn leaves for the occasion. The bride was attended by her sister as bridesmaid, while a brother of the groom was his best man.

Need More Cars.

The Lehigh officials are greatly agitated over their inability to get freight cars to handle the constantly increasing patronage of the road. Transportation is being seriously handicapped and the question is not to get traffic but how to handle it. Every car building concern has orders on hand that it will take months to fill and they are being hurried daily in their work. The Lehigh has large orders placed but the cars are arriving slowly. The present car famine is the worst in the history of railroad and it will be a year before the congestion is relieved.

For County Commissioner.

I hereby announce myself as a citizens' candidate for the office of County Commissioner, appealing to the voters, without regard to party, for their aid and support at the polls in November.

ATHENS STATE ROAD.

Surveyor N. F. Walker Will Make the Survey.

N. F. Walker has received instructions from the state commissioner of highways to make the survey for the state road that is to be built in Athens township. The road is to commence at the west end of the bridge which crosses the Chemung river and will reach as far as the crossing immediately north of Green's Landing.

Mr. Walker will begin work on Monday, and the survey which he is to make will show the alignment of the road and also the elevation and grades. From the data furnished by Mr. Walker the state highway commissioner will prepare plans and specifications from which the contract will be let.

The actual work of constructing the road will probably begin early next spring, or as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

On the Wicked Avenue.

The Elmira police authorities say that Pennsylvania sports accumulate a small bundle of money and go to Elmira and drop another on Railroad Avenue where they stay until they get into trouble. They are either robbed or else they try scrapping proclivities with some of the Avenue bouncers and then after they get their bumps they hurry to the police station and the officers all wake up and go out and arrest some Avenue habitues and these are held until the day for trial when they are discharged, for the Pennsylvania sports never appear against them. The police say that it is very generally known that Railroad Avenue is the toughest street of any city of medium size in the Empire State, therefore if Pennsylvania shortskates are looking for the strenuous life and go to the Avenue and find it, they needn't tell their troubles to a policeman for there will be no arrests unless complainants give bonds for appearance at the hearing.

Doctor's Wife Did Not Want It.

There came a little son to gladden the hearts of a well known Athens couple a few days ago. The little son is not the first child by several and the older brothers looked somewhat askance at the new arrival. Finally the four year old of the family was asked by a neighbor, what she thought of the baby and her reply was given most convincingly: "Well, you see, they had it on hand, and the doctor's wife would not have it, so the doctor told papa he'd have to take it."—Sayre Times.

Exciting Experience.

John H. Murray and his little son of South Waverly had an exciting experience which might have resulted in a terrible tragedy while coming from Elmira on Erie train No. 2 Oct. 24. Near Wellsburg a plank came crashing through the car window in front of their seat. The plank was on the top of a car of lumber and had jarred loose, striking the window of the passenger coach. Luckily no one was injured, although those near Mr. Murray were badly startled.

WORK WEAKENS THE KIDNEYS.

Doan's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Towanda.

Most Towanda people work every day in some strained, unnatural position—bending constantly over a desk—riding on jolting wagons or cars—doing laborous housework; lifting, reaching or pulling, or trying the back in a hundred and one other ways. All these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, put new strength in bad backs. Towanda cures prove it.

John Coates, employed at Toy Factory living on Railroad Street, South of Towanda says: "I suffered from backache for some time without knowing the cause, until other symptoms of kidney complaint developed and became very annoying. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me as being a remedy on which I could rely so I bought a box and took the pills as directed. Three boxes entirely freed me from all symptoms which had caused me so much misery. I feel that I cannot say too much of Doan's Kidney Pills. They made a complete cure in my case."

A Rummerfield Woman Has Queer Illness.

A Rummerfield correspondent sends the following item concerning a queer case at that place:

"As Dan Swackhamer was returning from turning his cows to pasture Sunday morning, he saw the door standing wide open at the home of Mrs. Sarah Chilson; he stepped to the door and found her lying unconscious and nearly frozen. He notified her son at once who lives nearby and they succeeded in getting her on the bed. Dr. J. C. Lee was at once notified and upon examination found she was lying in a nervous trance. She is lying unconscious up until the present time."
